Never Take Meeting Notes Again: AI Notetakers & Summaries

Set up a notetaker people agreed to, get facts-only summaries, and leave every meeting with action items that have a real owner and a due date.

Consent
notetaker notice before anything records

heading summary template, facts only

weekly action-item routine you check

Stop typing while people talk. Leave every meeting with clear actions.

Most meetings end the same way: everyone nods, nobody wrote down who does what by when, and the follow-up email never goes out. An AI notetaker or your AI assistant can draft the summary for you, but only if people know it is running and you check the result against what was actually said. This guide gives you a responsible setup, a facts-only summary template and a weekly action-item routine.

Set up

With consent

Pick a notetaker option and tell everyone before it records anything.

Sum up

Facts only

Decisions, action items and open questions, taken only from the transcript.

Act

Owners & dates

Every action has a named owner and a due date, or is flagged to confirm.

THE TRANSCRIPT IS THE SOURCE. THE SUMMARY IS A DRAFT.

AI can mishear names, numbers and dates, and it can turn “maybe” into “agreed”. Treat every summary as a draft until you, or someone who was in the meeting, has checked it against the transcript or their own notes.

SECTION 01 · THE BASICS

What an AI notetaker does (and what it doesn't)

A notetaker turns speech into a transcript, then an AI writes a summary from it. That saves you typing. It does not know your clients, your context or what people meant, and it must not fill gaps with guesses.

Great at	Be careful with
Writing a transcript so you can listen instead of type	Names, product codes and numbers it may mishear
Pulling decisions and tasks out of a long discussion	Turning “let's think about it” into a firm decision
Drafting a short recap for people who missed the call	Inventing owners or deadlines nobody stated
Drafting the follow-up email from checked notes	Including side comments or sensitive details in the recap
Listing open questions to settle next time	Recording people who did not agree to be recorded

The one-line rule

Transcript in, draft out — then a human checks. Treat the summary like notes from a new assistant on their first day: helpful, but not final until someone who was in the room confirms it.

PROMPT · TEST HONESTY ON A SHORT TRANSCRIPT

Below is a short transcript excerpt from a meeting about [TOPIC].
[PASTE A FEW LINES OF TRANSCRIPT, NAMES REPLACED WITH ROLES]
List the decisions and action items. Use only what is said in the excerpt. If an owner or due date is not stated, write [NOT STATED]. Do not invent anything. Then list anything that was unclear.

EXERCISE 1 · YOUR RECURRING MEETINGS (3 MINUTES)

Write down the three meetings you sit in most often (for example: weekly team call, client check-in, project kick-off) and who usually writes the notes today.

Got this from a friend? Get more practical AI guides at shop-ds.github.io →

SECTION 02 · SETUP OPTIONS

Choose your notetaker setup

You do not need a new app to start. Pick the lightest option that fits how your meetings already run. Features and plans change often, so check what your current tools and plans include before you pay for anything.

Option	How it works	Good when	Check first
Built-in meeting assistant	The AI feature inside your video tool (for example Zoom, Microsoft Teams or Google Meet) writes notes	Your team already meets in that tool	Whether your plan and admin settings include it
Separate notetaker app	A notetaker service joins the call as a participant and sends notes afterwards	You meet across several tools	Who can see notes, where they are stored, auto-sharing
Upload a transcript	You save the meeting transcript and paste it into your AI assistant	You want full control of what is shared	Remove names and sensitive parts first
No recording	You type rough bullet notes and ask AI to tidy them	Sensitive or in-person meetings	Your bullets are the only source

PROMPT · HELP ME PICK A SETUP

I run [TYPE OF BUSINESS]. Our meetings: [MEETING TYPES AND HOW OFTEN].
We meet on: [VIDEO TOOL(S) OR IN PERSON].
We already pay for: [CURRENT TOOLS AND PLANS].
Privacy needs: [E.G. CLIENT CALLS, CONFIDENTIAL TOPICS].
Compare these four options for us: built-in meeting assistant, separate notetaker app, upload a transcript, no recording. Do not state prices or plan features as facts; tell me what to check on each vendor's current pricing page. If you need more information, ask me first.

START WITH ONE MEETING

Try your chosen option on one internal meeting with your own team before you use it on client calls. You will learn how accurate the transcript is for your voices, accents and product names.

SECTION 03 · CONSENT & PRIVACY

Responsible setup: consent and privacy

People speak more freely when they know what is captured and why. Make the notetaker visible, give people a way to say no, and keep transcripts only as long as you need them.

1. Put a one-line notice in the meeting invite: what records, why, and who gets the notes.
2. Say it again at the start of the call and ask if anyone objects. If they do, switch it off and take notes by hand.
3. Check the sharing settings: who receives the summary automatically, and whether external guests get a copy.
4. Decide how long you keep transcripts and recordings, then set that in the tool if it allows it.
5. Do not record sensitive meetings (HR, health, legal, disciplinary or salary talks). Use bullet notes instead.

PROMPT · WRITE THE INVITE NOTICE

Write a short, friendly notice for a meeting invite.
Meeting: [MEETING TYPE]
Notetaker we use: [TOOL OR "our meeting assistant"]
What it captures: [TRANSCRIPT / RECORDING / SUMMARY ONLY]
Who gets the notes: [WHO]
How long we keep them: [YOUR DECIDED PERIOD]
How to opt out: [HOW]
Use only these facts. Under 60 words. Do not promise anything I have not listed. If a fact is missing, ask me.

RECORDING RULES DIFFER BY PLACE

Some countries and some US states require consent from everyone on a call before it is recorded. If you have UK or EU participants, meeting transcripts can contain personal data covered by GDPR. Tell people, ask for consent, share as little as you can, and check your own obligations. This guide is general information, not legal advice.

SECTION 04 · SUMMARY TEMPLATE

A summary template that stays factual

A good summary is short and the same every time, so people know where to look. Five headings are enough for most business meetings.

Heading	What goes in it	Rule
Purpose	One line: why the meeting happened	From the invite or the opening minutes
Decisions	What was clearly agreed	Only if someone said it was agreed
Action items	Task · owner · due date	Missing owner or date → [NOT STATED]
Open questions	Things raised but not settled	Never turn these into decisions
Next meeting	Date and topic, if set	Leave blank if not stated

PROMPT · SUMMARY FROM A TRANSCRIPT

Here is the transcript of a [MEETING TYPE] for [TYPE OF BUSINESS]. Names are replaced with roles.
[PASTE TRANSCRIPT]
Write a summary under these headings: Purpose, Decisions, Action items (task, owner, due date), Open questions, Next meeting.
Use only what is said in the transcript. Do not invent decisions, owners, dates, prices or numbers. If an owner or date is not stated, write [NOT STATED]. If something is unclear, list it under Open questions. Keep it under [NUMBER] words.

PROMPT · TWO-MINUTE RECAP FOR PEOPLE WHO MISSED IT

Here is a checked meeting summary:
[PASTE CHECKED SUMMARY]
Write a 5-bullet recap for [WHO MISSED IT]. Keep every decision, owner and date exactly as written. Leave out side comments. Do not add anything that is not in the summary.

EXERCISE 2 · YOUR SUMMARY HEADINGS

Look at your last meeting notes. Which of the five headings were missing? Is there one heading your team needs (for example “Client requests” or “Risks”)?

Got this from a friend? Get more practical AI guides at shop-ds.github.io →

SECTION 05 · ACTION ITEMS

Action items that actually happen

An action item without an owner and a date is just a wish. Capture it, confirm it with the person, send it to everyone, and track it until it is done.

1 · CAPTURE
AI lists tasks from the transcript

2 · CONFIRM
Owner and date checked with the person

3 · SEND
Follow-up email within a day

4 · TRACK
Reviewed at the next meeting

PROMPT · PULL OUT ACTION ITEMS AS A TABLE

From this transcript:
[PASTE TRANSCRIPT]
Make a table with columns: Task, Owner, Due date, Exact words (a short quote from the transcript that shows the task was agreed).
Include only tasks someone agreed to do. If the owner or due date is not stated, write [NOT STATED]. Do not invent tasks, owners or dates. After the table, list any task that sounded possible but was not clearly agreed.

PROMPT · FOLLOW-UP EMAIL FROM CHECKED NOTES

Write a short follow-up email to [RECIPIENTS, BY ROLE] after our [MEETING TYPE].
Checked decisions: [PASTE]
Checked action items (task, owner, due date): [PASTE]
Tone: [TONE]. Language: [LANGUAGE].
List the action items as bullets with owner and date exactly as given. Ask people to reply if anything is wrong. Use only these facts. If an owner or date is marked [NOT STATED], ask the group to confirm it instead of guessing.

EXERCISE 3 · YOUR ACTION-ITEM HOME

Where will checked action items live after the email (a shared sheet, your task app, the next agenda)? Write it down and who updates it.

Got this from a friend? Get more practical AI guides at shop-ds.github.io →

SECTION 06 · VERIFY

Check every summary before you send it

A tidy summary can still be wrong. Build a five-minute check into every meeting, and do it while the call is fresh in your mind.

- [ ] Every decision in the summary was clearly agreed in the meeting
- [ ] Every owner and due date matches the transcript or was confirmed with the person
- [ ] Names, numbers, prices and dates are spelled and quoted correctly
- [ ] Open questions were not turned into decisions
- [ ] Side comments, personal details and sensitive topics are removed before sharing

PROMPT · FACT-CHECK THIS SUMMARY

Here is a meeting summary draft:
[PASTE AI SUMMARY]
Here is the transcript it came from:
[PASTE TRANSCRIPT]
List every decision, owner, date and number in the summary. Mark each FOUND (quote the transcript line), NOT FOUND or UNCLEAR. Then rewrite the summary using only FOUND items, and move UNCLEAR items to Open questions. Do not add anything new.

Check	Pass?	Note
Decisions match what was agreed
Owners and dates confirmed
Names and numbers correct
Nothing sensitive in the recap

REPAIR PHRASE THAT WORKS

When the summary invents or changes something, reply: Replace this assumption with the following confirmed fact: [FACT]. Change nothing else. The fact-check prompt helps you find problems, but the final check is you comparing against the transcript or asking the people involved.

SECTION 07 · WEEKLY ROUTINE

Your weekly meeting routine

Use the same rhythm for every recurring meeting. Estimate: 10–15 extra minutes per meeting at first, less once the template is saved. Times vary by meeting length.

1. Before (3 min): send the agenda with the notetaker notice; list the decisions you need.
2. Start (1 min): say the notetaker is on and ask if anyone objects.
3. End (2 min): read the action items out loud; confirm each owner and date in the room.
4. After (10 min): run the summary prompt, check it, then send the follow-up email the same day.
5. Next meeting (2 min): open with last week's action items. Done, moved or dropped.

PROMPT · BUILD AN AGENDA THAT MAKES SUMMARIES EASIER

Our next [MEETING TYPE] is [LENGTH] minutes.
Topics we must cover: [TOPICS]
Decisions we need: [DECISIONS NEEDED]
Open action items from last time: [PASTE CHECKED LIST]
Draft a simple agenda with a time for each item, starting with last time's action items and ending with 2 minutes to confirm owners and dates. Use only these topics. Ask me if the time is too short.

- One saved summary prompt for each recurring meeting
- One place where checked action items live
- Follow-up email sent the same working day
- Transcripts deleted when you no longer need them

PEOPLE OWN DECISIONS, NOT THE AI

If the summary says something was agreed and you are not sure, ask the people involved. Never send a client a decision, price or deadline that came only from an unchecked AI summary.

SECTION 08 · HABIT

Your 7-day starter plan and tracker

Use the first week to set up one notetaker option and run the full routine on two real meetings.

Day	Action	Time (est.)	Done
1	List your recurring meetings; pick one internal meeting to start	10 min
2	Choose your setup option; check your current plan and settings	20 min
3	Write the invite notice; add it to the meeting invite	10 min
4	Run the meeting; confirm action items out loud at the end	5 min
5	Run the summary prompt; fact-check it; send the follow-up	20 min
6	Repeat on a second meeting; adjust your summary headings	20 min
7	Save your prompts; set transcript retention; review the week	15 min

Times are rough estimates and vary by meeting length.

PROMPT · WEEKLY REVIEW

This week I used AI meeting notes for: [MEETINGS].
What worked: [WINS]. What went wrong: [PROBLEMS, E.G. MISHEARD NAMES, INVENTED DATES].
Rewrite my summary prompt so it avoids these problems next time. List 3 checks I must never skip. Do not invent anything about my meetings.

Safety checklist

- [ ] Everyone knew the notetaker was on, and could say no
- [ ] I checked every decision, owner and date before sending
- [ ] Sensitive meetings were not recorded, and old transcripts are deleted

FIRST WIN · FICTIONAL EXAMPLE

Your first win, start to finish

Walk through one summary for a made-up client call at a small renovation company in Portland, Oregon. Nothing here is a real business, real people or live AI output.

Example input	Value
Business	Maple & Stone Renovations (fictional), Portland, Oregon
Meeting	15-minute client check-in about a kitchen remodel; names replaced with roles
Transcript	Owner asks if the notetaker is okay; client agrees · Client confirms tile option B is final · Project lead will send the revised quote with option B by Friday · Client will confirm the cabinet color by Wednesday · Building permit owner not decided ("look at that next time") · Next call same time next week
Question	What was decided, who does what by when, and what is still open?

EXAMPLE COMPLETED PROMPT

Here is the transcript of a 15-minute client check-in for a small renovation company (fictional example for practice). Names are replaced with roles.

Owner: Thanks for joining. This notetaker is on for today's call, is that okay with everyone?
Client: Yes, fine.
Owner: Great. So for the kitchen, you've picked tile option B?
Client: Yes, option B. Final.
Project lead: I'll send the revised quote with option B by Friday.
Client: And I still need to confirm the cabinet color. I'll do that by Wednesday.
Owner: Who handles the building permit?
Project lead: Good question. Let's look at that next time.
Owner: Okay. Next call is the same time next week.

Write a summary under these headings: Decisions, Action items (task, owner, due date), Open questions, Next meeting.
Use only what is said in the transcript. Do not invent decisions, owners, dates or prices. If an owner or due date is not stated, write [NOT STATED]. If a fact is missing, ask me before answering.

Copy it, open your AI assistant (ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini or Copilot), paste and send. Then compare what you get with this:

ILLUSTRATIVE ANSWER, NOT A LIVE AI RESULT

Decisions: Tile option B is final for the kitchen.
Action items: Send the revised quote with option B, Project lead, by Friday. Confirm the cabinet color, Client, by Wednesday.
Open questions: Who handles the building permit? Owner [NOT STATED], to discuss next call.
Next meeting: Same time next week.

Checks before use

- [ ] Every decision (tile option B) was clearly agreed in the transcript.
- [ ] Each owner and due date matches the transcript: quote by Friday, cabinet color by Wednesday.
- [ ] The permit question stays open with [NOT STATED]; nobody was assigned it.
- [ ] Nothing was added: no prices, start dates or extra tasks.

USE IT

Paste the checked summary into your follow-up email or project notes yourself. The webpage does not send anything for you.

GUIDED TASK

Turn a transcript into a summary

When to use it: Right after a meeting, when you have the transcript or your rough notes and need a short, factual summary.
Prepare: The meeting transcript or your bullet notes; Names replaced with roles; sensitive parts removed; Everyone knew the notetaker was on.

Question	Example answer
What kind of meeting was it?	Weekly project check-in with a client about a kitchen remodel
Paste the transcript or your notes.	Owner: So you've picked tile option B? · Client: Yes, final. · Project lead: I'll send the revised quote by Friday. · Client: I'll confirm the cabinet color by Wednesday. · Owner: Who handles the permit? · Project lead: Let's look at that next time.
Maximum length of the summary, in words?	150
Describe your business in one sentence.	A small home renovation company in Portland, Oregon
Which language should the result be in?	English

Purpose: Weekly check-in on the kitchen remodel. Decisions: Tile option B is final. Action items: Send revised quote, Project lead, by Friday; Confirm cabinet color, Client, by Wednesday. Open questions: Who handles the permit? Owner [NOT STATED]. Next meeting: [NOT STATED].

Checks before use

- [ ] Every decision was clearly agreed in the transcript, not just discussed.
- [ ] Each owner and due date matches the transcript word for word.
- [ ] Missing owners or dates say [NOT STATED] instead of a guess.
- [ ] No names, prices or sensitive details were added or left in.

GUIDED TASK

Send the follow-up with action items

When to use it: You have a checked summary and want everyone to leave with the same list of who does what by when.
Prepare: Your checked decisions; Your checked action items with owners and dates; Who should receive the email (by role).

Question	Example answer
Who will receive the email?	The client and our project lead
Paste the checked decisions.	Tile option B is final for the kitchen.
Paste the checked action items (task, owner, due date).	Send revised quote with option B, Project lead, by Friday · Confirm cabinet color, Client, by Wednesday · Building permit, owner [NOT STATED]
What tone should it have?	Friendly and clear
Which language should the result be in?	English

PROMPT TEMPLATE

Write a short follow-up email to [RECIPIENTS] after our meeting.
Checked decisions:
[CHECKED DECISIONS]
Checked action items (task, owner, due date):
[CHECKED ACTION ITEMS]
Tone: [TONE]. Language: [LANGUAGE].

List the action items as bullets with owner and date exactly as given. For any item marked [NOT STATED], ask the group to confirm it instead of guessing. Ask people to reply if anything is wrong. Use only these facts; no new dates, prices or promises. If an essential fact is missing, ask me before drafting.

ILLUSTRATIVE ANSWER, NOT A LIVE AI RESULT

Subject: Kitchen remodel: today's decisions and next steps

Hi both, thanks for today. We agreed tile option B is final. Next steps:
• Revised quote with option B: Project lead, by Friday
• Cabinet color confirmed: Client, by Wednesday
• Building permit: who will handle this? Please let us know so we can confirm it next call.
If anything here is wrong, just reply and we'll fix it.

Checks before use

- [ ] Every action item, owner and date matches your checked list exactly.
- [ ] Items without an owner ask the group to confirm, not assign someone.
- [ ] No new promises, prices or dates were added.
- [ ] A human read it before sending, and only the right people are on it.

Repairs

If...	Send this
Invented a decision, owner or date	"Replace this assumption with the following confirmed fact: [FACT]. Change nothing else."
Assigned a missing owner	"Remove the owner for "[ITEM]". Nobody agreed to it. Ask the group to confirm instead."
Too formal or too casual	"Rewrite in a [WARMER / MORE FORMAL] tone. Keep every action, owner and date exactly as written."

Next action: Send the email yourself from your own inbox, then copy the action items into the place your team tracks tasks.

GUIDED TASK

Write the notetaker notice for your invite

When to use it: Before any meeting where an AI notetaker or recording will be on, so everyone knows and can say no.
Prepare: Which notetaker you use and what it captures; Who receives the notes and how long you keep them; How someone can opt out.

Question	Example answer
What kind of meeting is it?	Monthly client check-in
Which notetaker will you use, and what does it capture?	Our video tool's built-in meeting assistant; it creates a transcript and a summary, no video recording
Who gets the notes, and how long do you keep them?	Sent to attendees only; we delete transcripts after 30 days
How can someone opt out?	Reply to this invite or tell us at the start of the call, and we'll take notes by hand
Which language should the result be in?	English

PROMPT TEMPLATE

Write a short, friendly notice to add to a meeting invite.
Meeting: [MEETING TYPE]
Notetaker and what it captures: [TOOL AND WHAT IT CAPTURES]
Who gets the notes and how long we keep them: [WHO GETS NOTES AND HOW LONG]
How to opt out: [HOW TO OPT OUT]
Language: [LANGUAGE].

Under 60 words. Plain words, no legal jargon. Use only these facts. Do not promise anything I have not listed (for example security or deletion claims). If an essential fact is missing, ask me before drafting.

ILLUSTRATIVE ANSWER, NOT A LIVE AI RESULT

Heads-up: we use our video tool's meeting assistant on this call to create a transcript and summary (no video recording). Notes go to attendees only, and we delete transcripts after 30 days. Prefer not? Reply to this invite or tell us at the start, and we'll take notes by hand.

Checks before use

- [ ] What it captures matches your real tool settings.
- [ ] Who gets the notes and the retention period match what you actually do.
- [ ] The opt-out is real and easy, and you will honor it.
- [ ] No extra security, privacy or deletion promises were added.

Repairs

If...	Send this
Invented a decision, owner or date	"Replace this assumption with the following confirmed fact: [FACT]. Change nothing else."
Added a promise you can't keep	"Remove any claim about [SECURITY / DELETION / ENCRYPTION]. We have not confirmed that."
Too long or too legal	"Rewrite this in under [NUMBER] plain words. Keep every fact."

Next action: Paste the checked notice into the invite yourself, and say it again at the start of the call.
